GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

A. Who May Claim This Deduction—You may be eligible to take this deduction if you maintain a household which includes as a member, one or more qualifying individuals.

You will be treated as maintaining a household for any year only if you furnish over half the cost of maintaining the household for that year. If you are married for a year, you and your spouse must provide over half the maintenance cost for that year.

The expenses of maintaining a household include property taxes, mortgage interest, rent, utility charges, upkeep and repairs, property insurance, and food consumed on the premises. Expenses do not include the cost of clothing, education, medical treatment, vacations, life insurance or transportation.

B. Special Rules—

Married couples may take the child care deduction when filing separately on the same form. The deduction must be divided equally between the spouses. You may not claim the deduction if you are married filing separately on separate forms (filing status 4 or 5).

Gainful employment requirement—if you are married for any period during the taxable year, take into account employment-related expenses incurred during any month of that year only if:

- Both you and your spouse are gainfully employed on a substantially full-time or part-time basis, or actually seeking gainful employment, or
- Your spouse is physically or mentally incapable of self-care.

Self-employment is considered gainful employment for the purpose of this deduction.

C. Child Care Deduction vs. Medical Expenses Deduction—If an expense qualifies as both employment-related and medical, you may treat it either way, as long as you do not deduct it twice.

If you treat the expense as medical, then the part of it that is not deductible because of the 7½% medical deduction limitation cannot be used as part of your employment-related expenses.

Specific Instructions
